 EBSCO Discovery Service

Public library users often think of the library as just about books. Yet the amount of content that libraries offer — beyond books — is immense. Think of databases, e-books, music and any type of digital content.

But can your users readily find all the content in your collections?

Does the search box on the library's website retrieve items beyond the catalog?

Are the library's online databases easily found?

And how do users know which database(s) to use to get the answers they need?

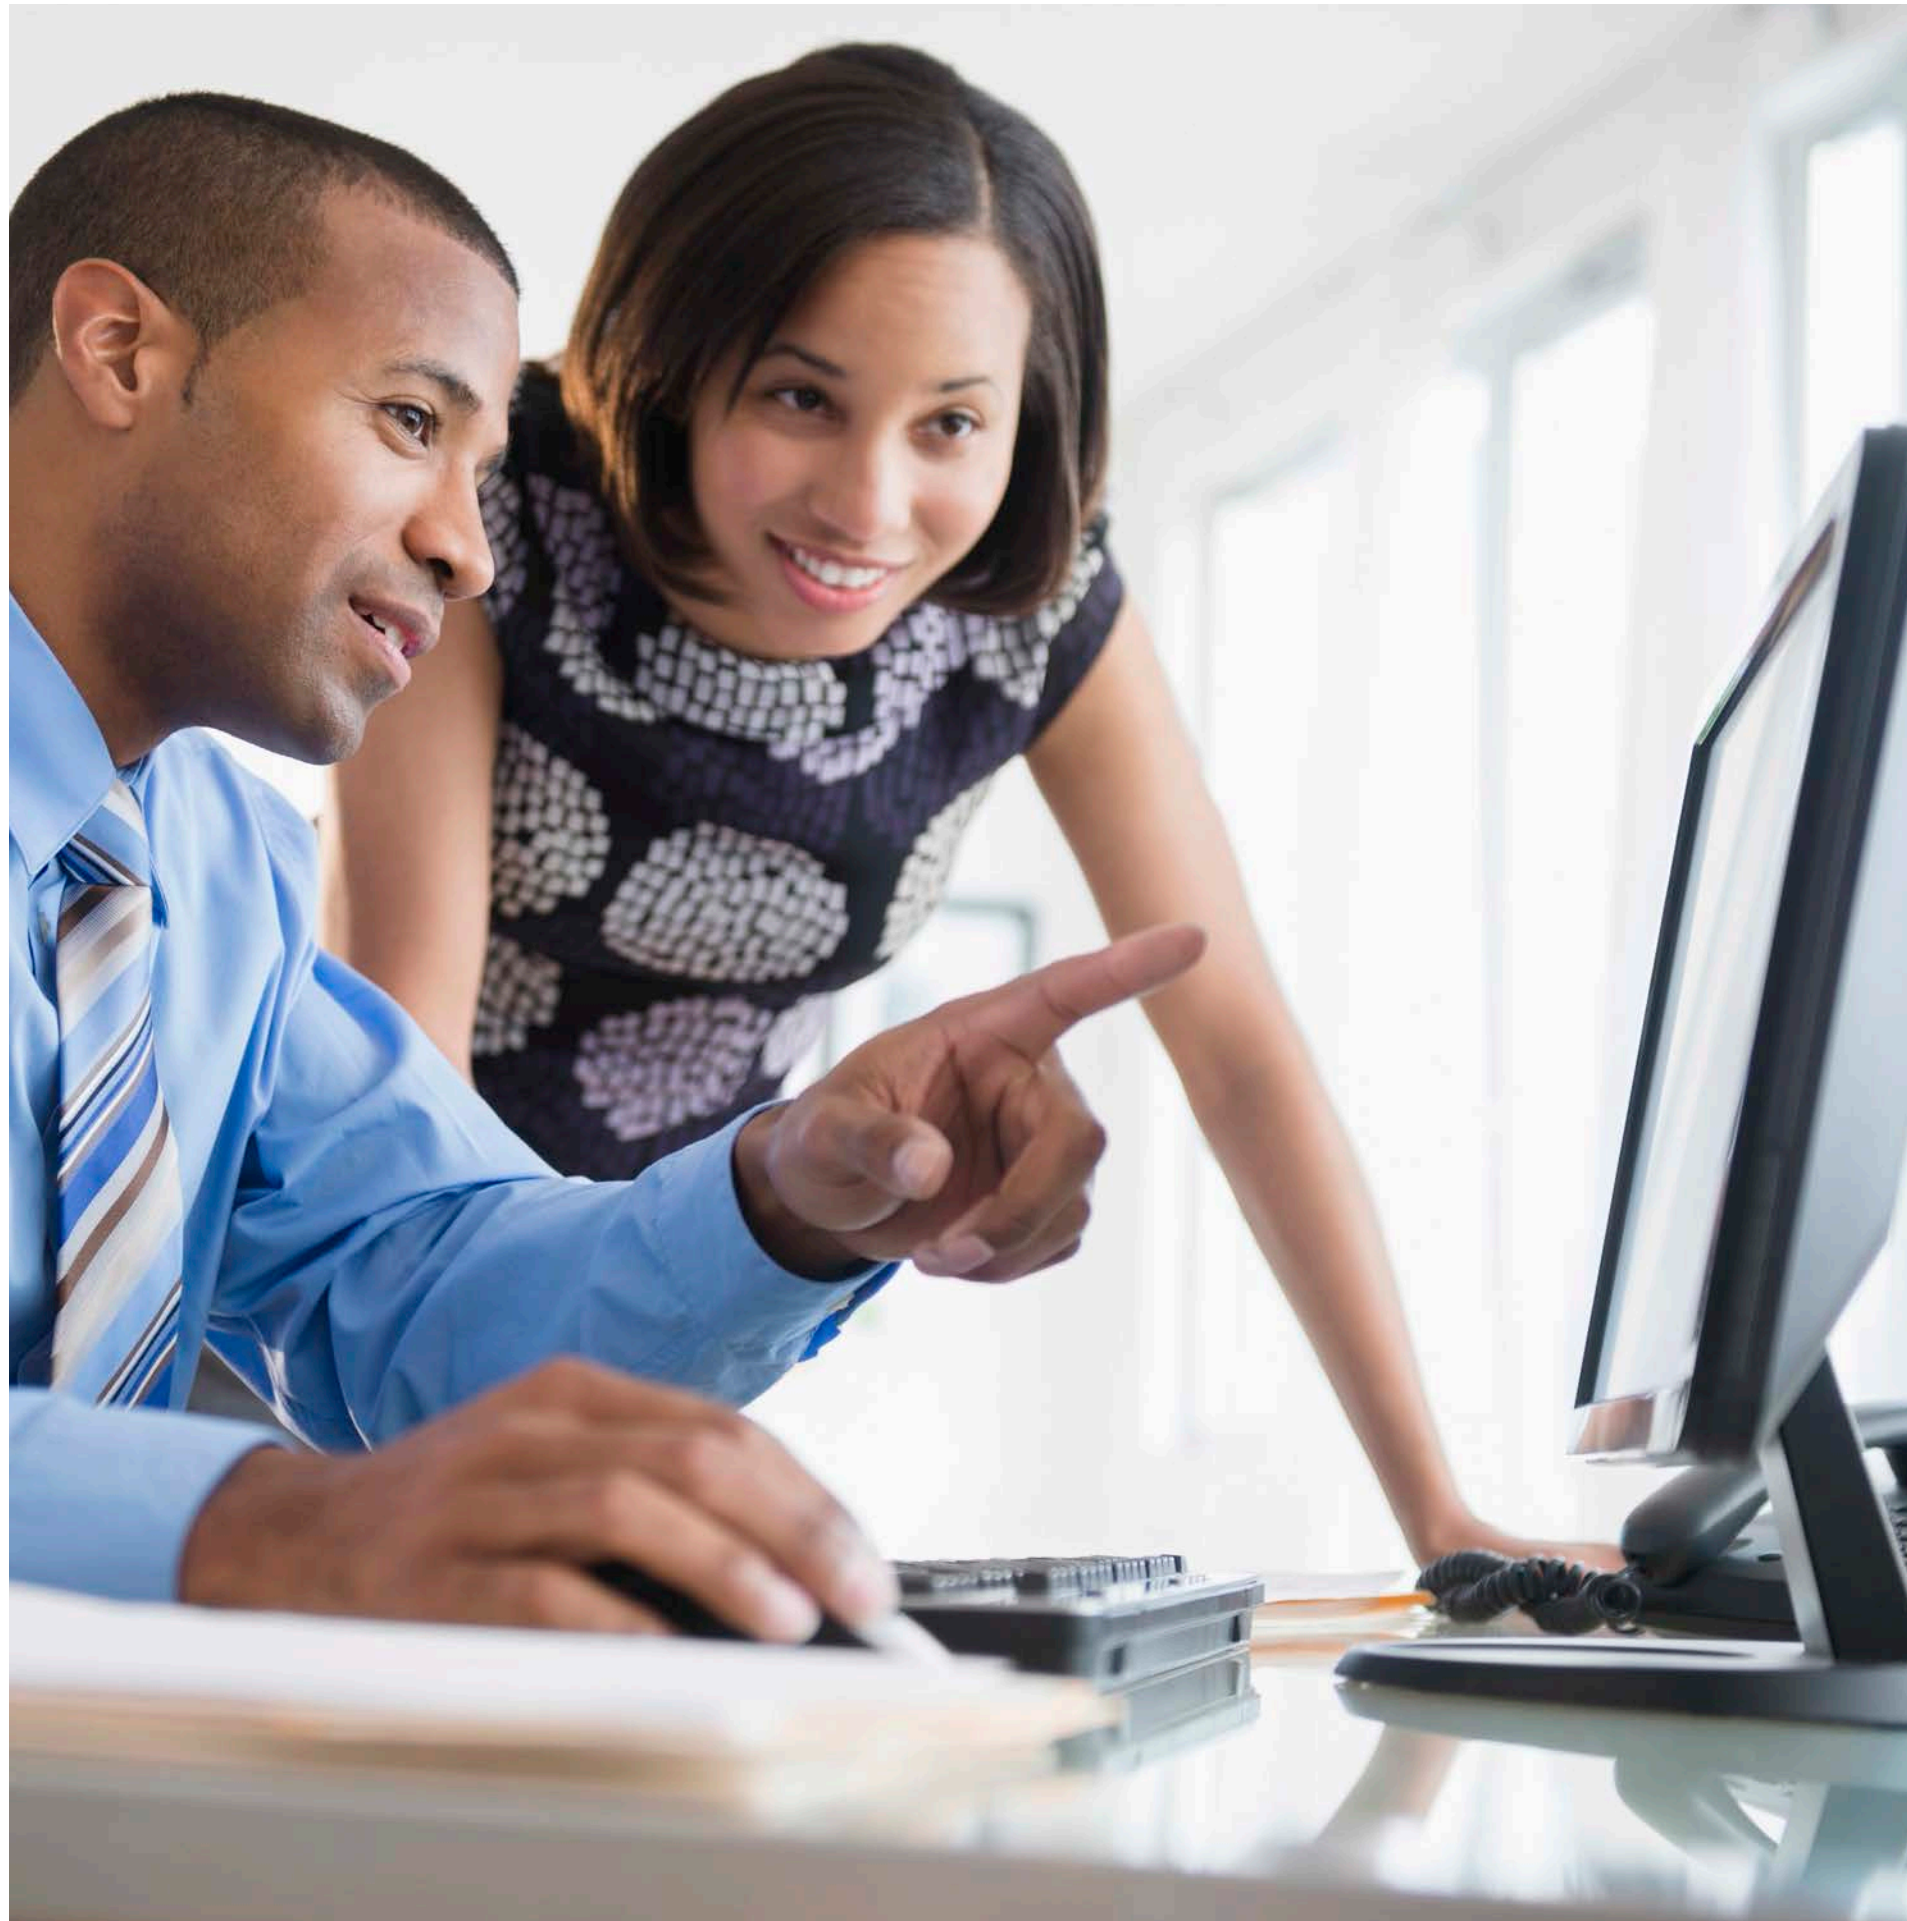

Users want information on health topics, retirement, car purchases — you name it. And they want it to be reliable and trustworthy. The library offers this type of content.

So how can you best connect your users to the content that you offer?

EBSCO Discovery Service[™] (EDS) takes your catalog, your databases, your e-books, music files and any type of digital content and makes them available to your users through a single index.

With EDS, your users can connect to your library's online resources anytime, anywhere to download their next e-book, magazine, journal article and more.

EDS is completely customizable and easy to implement. You can create the look and feel that matches your library's branding.

Not sure how to do this?

Our team of implementation experts can help you along every step of the way.

The bottom line: EDS can dramatically increase the usage of your online resources, help create a better informed public and provide you with valuable usage data to determine in which resources to invest in the future.
