2:25 PM Thank you, Monique

2:25 PM Great list - thank you, Monique!

2:25 PM great list Angela

2:25 PM Thank you Monique!

2:25 PM Do your personal librarians get any unwanted attention?

2:26 PM Thank you for the link for the presentation

2:26 PM BPL Shelf Service <https://www.bpl.org/services-central-library/new-and-novel/>

2:26 PM Are we able to have the slides from the presentations?

2:26 PM Yes, you can download the slides and certificate for this presentation at: <https://bit.ly/35msWcP>

2:26 PM

Good question, Nancy. Do they have like a library “persona” character or are they interacting as themselves?

2:26 PM We are also recording the session and will email a link to the recording in a couple of days.

2:26 PM Good Job Monique!

2:27 PM Shelf Service was spot on for me.

2:27 PM Ok, yes I did see it earlier, thanks again!

2:27 PM You're welcome!

2:27 PM Sorry, I meant Monique--great list! Thank you--

2:27 PM Wow!

2:27 PM Beautiful Library!

2:27 PM Thank you for recording the session and making available. I like to listen a second time.

2:27 PM I love going there!

2:27 PM I would love to know more about the reasoning behind whether or not to require a library card number to use the personalized RA service

2:28 PM

Thanks for the questions, I will pass them along to our panelists for the Q&A session at the end of the webinar.

2:30 PM I will let my director know about Shelf Service and BookMatch

2:30 PM We have overwhelming responses, too, when we promote in, say, our monthly eblast. I wish we could find a way to have a steady flow of 5-10 a week instead of 1-2 a week and 20 when we promote it. Would love some ideas about promotion that creates steadier flow.

2:32 PM How do you handle children's internet privacy issues with your RA form?

2:33 PM Thank you for the questions. I will pass them along to the panelists for the Q&A session at the end.

2:33 PM

Have you had to maximize the amount of staff answering the requests since there's a large uptick in requests?

2:33 PM

@Sam, we do have bookmarks! Whether people are taking them and following up, I'm not sure, heh.

2:34 PM We had a great increase in True Crime and Horror ! much to my surprise

2:35 PM

I would rather read suspense.....keeps my mind occupied....then reading romance...which I am a fan of

2:35 PM I only read romance, lol

2:35 PM I do watch true crime shows though

2:35 PM Can the chat responses be included with the link to the webibar recording that will be sent out afterwards? Some great information here

2:36 PM Yes, the chat will be archived and made available afterwards.

2:36 PM I like to read romantic suspense, suspense, fiction, thriller, sci-fi, fantasy, romance, paranormal

2:36 PM Great! Thanks, Jessica.

2:36 PM I prefer lighthearted romance.....if I want to be depressed or scared, I can watch the news, lol

2:36 PM Loved it Vivian!!! so true

2:37 PM Link to a BPL's response example: <http://www.libraryaware.com/1931/Posts/View/1cb9c178-0382-4ee2-98b5-1465cc15a506?SID=>

2:37 PM It depends on my mood

2:37 PM No not me, sorry...

2:37 PM Is there a way to compile responses from Novelist WITHOUT using Library Aware? We don't have the budget right now

2:37 PM

I can't get into science fiction because it's hard getting into the world and remembering all the specifics of it

2:37 PM I am not as talented as you all are, and the Hungarian would not count :-)

2:37 PM Thanks so much!

2:37 PM thank you, Melissa

2:37 PM roughly how many books do you recommend

2:38 PM canva.com might be a way to compile pretty lists, otherwise I've made templates in Word that allow for a pretty quick copy/paste list

2:38 PM I was just thinking of using Canva too.

2:38 PM Good ideas!

2:38 PM I definitely really like using Canva, it's easy to use and share.

2:39 PM Sorry, I did not explained myself clearly, sorry...

2:39 PM

Love all these examples from Weymouth, Dallas & Boston! Thanks for sharing Kristy, Monique & Melissa.

2:39 PM lost audio

2:39 PM Yes, these were great shares. Thank You!

2:40 PM audio back now

2:40 PM We have quite a few patrons who put holds on books....same patrons who love the same books.....

2:41 PM

#NAME?

2:41 PM I love the book of the day idea!

2:41 PM Agree

2:42 PM

My co-worker and I do a monthly display of books depending on what that month is....or we do author birthdays

2:42 PM One month - Feb - we did Red books to read....

2:43 PM Do library staff mostly read what they want to read or are there certain books that they choose to read for promotion purposes?

2:44 PM They go to that display, sometimes find some there before going to the recent/new book shelves

2:44 PM I work in technical services, so I don't do much interacting with patrons in my job.

2:44 PM yes!

2:45 PM Having people say they've read the books is a good marker that you got it right, even though you then need to regroup

2:46 PM Wondering if copies of the questionnaires and surveys mentioned can be available?

2:46 PM

You can download the presentation slides and certificate for this presentation at: <https://bit.ly/35msWcP>

2:46 PM Heather there were links posted in chat

2:46 PM And we will share the chat transcript after the webinar

2:48 PM Same question, but for all of the panelists: on average, how many requests do you receive/week?

2:48 PM

For Kristy - when you do "The Librarians Recommend" newsletter, is that on Library Aware or Novelist?

2:49 PM suggestions for reaching patrons who don't have internet/computer/smartphone access?

2:51 PM Do you have a good resource of book reviews for Spanish speakers? Is the resource written in Spanish or bilingual?

2:51 PM we have certain phone hours for people to call us for help

2:52 PM For patrons with no email: we have staff fill out the online form at the desk, and we'll respond via phone and follow up with a mailed list.

2:52 PM To follow up: what do you offer at this time that everything is closed?

2:52 PM Problem is that with email sarcasm and humor can be easily misread, so I'd be cautious. We just ask why they didn't like it, and suggest alternatives.

2:53 PM Is there a good resource that gives recommendations of books, tv, movies, music all together?

2:53 PM We are recording the session and will email a link to the recording in a couple of days. You can also check back here: <https://bit.ly/35msWcP>

2:53 PM Thank you all....

2:54 PM Is LibraryAware part of the Novelist subscription or an added cost?

2:54 PM We are recording the session in case you need to step away for a bit, and will email a link to the recording in a couple of days. You can also check back here: <https://bit.ly/35msWcP>

2:56 PM Can custom templates be made and added?

2:57 PM Yes, custom templates can be made and added.

2:57 PM Creating custom templates for my organization:

2:57 PM thank you!

2:57 PM You're welcome!

2:59 PM Does anyone have a good resource for an all inclusive recommendation of TV, movies, books, and music together? Such as "if you liked Ozark?" or "if you like jazz music?"

2:59 PM Is suggest a title in Library Aware available for book recommendations in other languages?

3:01 PM Valerie, have you looked at NoveLists "For Fans of" lists? They have some great recommendations for popular TV shows and movies and they change as new things come out. I haven't seen much for music, but I know there are some sites like Book Riot or Epic Reads that make a lot of lists like that.

3:01 PM thank you!

3:02 PM We have also recently added in a "For Fans of Ozark" template in LibraryAware with book recommendations already pre-loaded.

3:03 PM Here is the PDF version of the For Fans of Ozark flyer: <https://libraryaware.com/20BF4D>

3:03 PM thank you again, this has been great!
