Explore original cutting-edge, high-quality research

- Supplement traditional peer-reviewed journals and professional books
  The gray literature indexed in PsycEXTRA makes it a preferred source of innovative reports, ground-breaking conference papers, developing ideas, and more recent research than what is typically found in journals and books. When combined with conventional research materials, users gain vital insight across the spectrum of the behavioral and social sciences.

- Stay up-to-date on the latest developments in psychology and interrelated fields
  Users will discover the most current research findings from leading academic and research institutes, the military, foundations, and other select organizations. Plus, because PsycEXTRA focuses on content that is outside of the peer-review system, it uncovers and indexes materials well before the research appears in published journals.

- Browse meticulously organized content
  PsycEXTRA is indexed with controlled vocabulary from the Thesaurus of Psychological Index Terms® making it easy to search and discover content from a variety of sources. In addition to index terms, users can browse by topic, document type, year, author, and content owner.
