2:06 PM Looking for the most fantastic summary of what NovelList offers to support the CSLP theme? Check out our blog post at <https://www.ebsco.com/blogs/novelist/summer-reading-your-2022-guide>

2:07 PM Wow, that makes it so easy to find everything.

2:08 PM Do you follow other summer reading themes? Let us know in the Q&A and we'll offer some suggestions.

2:10 PM The DOD libraries are doing READ BEYOND THE BEATEN PATH theme this year for summer

2:11 PM We follow the TD Summer Reading program, and their theme this year is Once Upon a Time - will there/is there something similar set up?

2:11 PM We are doing iRead as well.

2:11 PM A good Rec Reads list would be any of our Nature and Science lists. Some good themes might be Green Reads, Evil Animals, and Band of Survivors

2:11 PM @Heather -- let me look for some "Once Upon a Time" stuff. I know we've got good stuff in Leslie Fitzpatrick, a reading challenge sounds like it would be a great tie in to that, to challenge your patrons to read outside the box!

2:12 PM @Jennifer - thanks!

2:12 PM @Lindsey great idea!

2:12 PM Where was that again?

2:12 PM If we are not members, are there some things we can use for free?

2:13 PM I was wondering, if the reading lists are the same as in the CLSP manual?

2:13 PM what is the link for the bingo?

2:13 PM This article is aimed at kids but you could always adapt the idea for any age.

2:13 PM @Heather We have a Princess Power rec reads list in Make Believe for the youngest readers

2:13 PM You can find the link to the bingo card in the blogpost, too. Let me see if I can find that link.

2:14 PM Thanks Jennifer!

2:14 PM Is there a Book bingo for adults?

2:14 PM @Heather There's also a theme "Once upon a time" for romance
